

Door Pass

After Reading Strategy

Purpose:

A "Door Pass" can be used during the last few minutes of class as a technique to get students to "reflect" on what they learned during the lesson. These make a great quick assessment of what your students learned regarding the lesson or topic covered that day.

Directions:

The teacher gives out "Door Pass" to each student and asks them to write:

- ◆ Ex. 1. Two things they learned from the lesson
- ◆ Ex. 2. One thing they learned and questions they still have
- ◆ Ex. 3. One thing they learned and one thing they would like to know more about
- ◆ Ex. 4. Describe how you would explain constitutional amendment to a student that was not in class today.

The students respond to the question or statement and upon leaving the classroom, hand the "Door Pass" to their teacher.

These are sometimes called "Exit Slips".
